McAllister's All-healing Ointment

IT is generally conceded that this Medicine has effected more cures than any seven remedies ever presented to the public. It has probably cured more cases of Piles, Rheumatism, Sore Eyes, Scalds, Burns, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Quinsy, Sore Throat, &c., than all the popular medicines in use; and I am positive in Liver Complaint, Scrofula, Asthma, Coughs, Consumptions, Spinal Diseases, Worms, Broken or Sore Breasts, Headache and the like, nothing can be found with physicians or druggists that is so good, and the cure so quick. In all Complaints peculiar to females it is truly a balm, its efficacy appears almost miraculous. ☞Agents for Kentucky,

Life Insurance effected in this Company on the Mutual and Joint Stock systems. They grant or purchase annuities, confer endowments, and make contracts now and appertaining to defence and reversionary interests connected with Life Risks.
Some of the peculiar advantages of this Company are:
1. It has a capital of $100,000, well secured; has two departments, the mutual and joint stock; the mutual department being secured by the whole capital of the company and its accumulations.
2. The rates of premium in the joint stock department are reduced equal to annual cash dividend in advance of thirty-three and one-third per cent.
3. In the mutual department, but one-half of the annual premium is required in cash, when the insurance is for life and the annual premium amounts to $10 dividend of profits annually; scrip issued, drawing interest and transferable.
4. The life of the husband may be insured for the benefit of the wife, the insurance payable to her, free from all claims of creditors or representatives. We are not aware of this provision in any other company in Ohio; but in none of the English companies, and but few of the eastern companies.
5. The premiums may be paid semi annually, or quarterly, if preferred.
6. The premiums received will be invested in the West, and the money paid annually for life insurance refained among us.
All should insure whose not certain of leaving their families in comfortable circumstances, and all whose income depend upon their personal exertions, as clergymen, physicians, lawyers, merchants, clerks, book keepers, and those in public offices. FOR PRESIDENT,

STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, of Illinois.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

R. M. T. HUNTER, of Virginia.

MONDAY, [illegible] DECEMBER 22, 1851.

☞ We don't often correct mere verbal errors after our paper is issued; but our failure to read proof sometimes leaves some mistakes that are annoying—such as manifesting a "declaration," instead of manifesting a determination, "flourishing" instead of flanching, "therefore" for thereupon, &c. The intelligent reader would see these errors, but still they should not occur.

☞ Mr. Schouler, the able and well-informed editor of the Boston Atlas, is in Washington, and, after noticing the debate on the compromise measures which sprung up in the House on the election of Speaker, he remarks: "I have been for many years an annual visitor to Washington. I have watched with a good deal of care the rise and progress of the slavery issue, and I am convinced, that, both in the North and South, it is used as a mere demagogue cry by men to get elected to office."

Lou. Journal.

The editor of the Atlas did indeed see one of the tallest specimens of demagoguery on the part of whigs at the opening of the present Congress. The democratic caucus laid upon the table a resolution approving the compromise. A few whigs seeing this, ran together and smuggled through the resolution, and then came into the House blustering and charging at a most astonishing rate. They had pitched the free-soilers out of the whig party heels, boots, and stockings, over heads, caps, and wigs; and had planted themselves upon the compromise, where they intended to sprout up and grow a harvest of compromises sufficient for all time to come. Master Brooks, of New York, was blusterer-in-chief for the handfull of whig compromisers. No doubt Schouler felt awful when Richardson, of Illinois, convicted the said Brooks of having dodged the compromise when help was needed, after the example of the whole whig party, except THREE, and when Master Brooks had to confess it before his assembled associates, equally guilty with himself. There were indeed a set of unmasked and convicted demagogues, who had no mantle but impudence to cover their shame and confusion.

No wonder Schouler went home and denounced demagogues; and gave out that the slavery agitation was only a demagogue cry.

This subject will no doubt be thrust upon Congress by demagogues; and perhaps honest men may find it a duty to bring up the subject and thrust it down the throats of some demagogues, until they sicken at it. The agitation of the subject in Congress is not called for by the people. Congress has done its part. It is for the people of the States and party assemblies to do their duty, and for Congress to attend to the legislation of the country. So all men of sense will say. The democratic caucus at Washington took this common sense view of the case. Most of the men composing it did not need to give a pledge of their anti sectionalism. They had battled for the cause in many a hard-fought canvass. But these northern whigs had imminent need of loud professions. They had been the cause of all the trouble. They had by their vile demagoguery and abolitionism created the necessity for a patched up bargain, called a compromise. The administration they brought into power, and sustained whilst it lasted, was opposed to this very compromise, and, but for an act of Providence, would have defeated it. Well they might get together and resolve; but to come charging into the House with their resolve, right before men who had witnessed for years their conduct, was the tallest specimen of self-exposed impudent demagoguery this country has ever witnessed in any party or faction.

We shall have occasion, perhaps, to publish the withering remarks of the able and patriotic Richardson, of Illinois. Whigery did look small to SCHOULER, and contemptible. He could not hold his pen when he got home. He might, however, have confined his remarks to the guilty—the men of his own miserable faction.

☞ We see that Kossuth was much affected by the conduct of a few persons in the Senate of the United States. If he had a little experience in such matters, he would not feel any concern about it. It takes all sorts of people to make a world, and all sorts of crotchets have representatives in the two houses of Congress. Two or three conservatives in pantaloons are needed in the Senate for the sake of variety; and there they are. Our man Underwood is something of a curiosity in his way. He is very conservative occasionally, but he made a bold push in the Senate once. He proposed to scoop out a few huge ponds up on the head waters of this ill-contrived river of ours, the Ohio, and dig a few deep ditches to the river from these ponds; so that when dry weather came, we might just pour the contents of these ponds into the channel of the river, and fill it up with the aqueous fluid, and thus control the movements of the Ohio, which has heretofore been doing just as it pleased. This was decidedly bold in Mr. Underwood, and we are of opinion, if he can control the Ohio this way, he need not be afraid of all the Czars of Russia.

The balking in the Senate was a small matter. That body was right, if not all right. The House did the business up brown. They called up the resolution, and gave it a thrust clear through with that battering ram, the previous question. They knew that some fellows wanted to make fools of themselves, and they did not allow it. They very properly determined to postpone allowing vent to honorable gentlemen's folly on a more suitable occasion.

Kossuth should take a lesson in republicanism in this country. The beauty of it is, that it not only tolerates but encourages all manner of individual notions. The Czar of Russia can have his advocates here if he wants them, even his printing presses, free as he dare not allow them to be at home. They will do to laugh at, if they answer no other purpose.—Kossuth would no doubt be astonished to hear people of this country discuss whether they should not just dissolve this government itself; whether the law should be obeyed or not; but this is the glory of republicanism. It is its means of salvation; its safety-valve is freedom of discussion on all subjects

☞ Several English deputations waited on Lord Palmerston to congratulate him upon the aid rendered the Sultan of Turkey in procuring the liberation of Kossuth. His speech in reply we give below. It is significant.—England is not an unconcerned spectator of the ambitious encroachments of Russia upon other nations, and will not refuse to take a hand in putting a check upon these movements:

Speech of Lord Palmerston.

Lord Palmerston, who had listened with great attention to the reading of the addresses, said, he felt extremely flattered and highly gratified by this expression of opinion on the part of so large a number of his fellow-countrymen for his exertions in endeavoring to promote the cause of national freedom among those nations who stood in need of it. The government were fully aware of the sympathies of the British nation in favor of the cause of Hungary; but, of course, as the organ of the government of her Majesty, who was in friendly alliance with the great foreign powers which had been referred to, it could not be expected that he should concur in some of the expressions which had been used in the addresses. He felt, however, that it was highly gratifying to have been instrumental in aiding the cause of the patriotic Hungarians and Poles who, without British intervention, would no doubt have been doomed to perpetual imprisonment, and have sacrificed their freedom, if not even their lives, in the cause of their country's independence. (Hear, hear.) They never could have been rescued from the fate which awaited them, even by the aid which the government of this country was enabled to afford, had not the government been backed by public opinion here. There was no question of the great moral power which the government of this country had over foreign affairs so long as the government were backed in the exercise of that power by the public opinion of the people. No doubt the moral power of the British government was immense, more than people generally imagined, but it would be only effective so long as the people and the government went together. (Hear) There could be no doubt that with regard to its Hungarian policy the government had been backed by the people—as was instanced by the fact of the appeals which had been made from all quarters and from all the large towns and cities in the kingdom, urging on the government interference in that important question. It was not necessary that England should exercise a power with its armies, with its bayonets, or with its cannon. The moral power, where the government was backed by the people, would do a great deal more. The moral power was greater than anything else, but even that could not be made effective, unless the government and people acted in unison. The government, more especially the foreign department, were sometimes accused of keeping too much secrecy with regard to their transactions with foreign powers. It was said there ought not to be so much secrecy in diplomacy; but, upon the same ground that men in the ordinary business transactions of life did not make public all the details of such transactions, until the bargains in which they might be engaged were completed, so also was it necessary that the publication of the proceedings of diplomacy should be left to the judgment and discretion of that department of the government in order properly to transact the business of the nation. The noble Lord again said, the reception of these addresses just read, and the general expression of approval of his conduct on the part of his countrymen, afforded him unfeigned pleasure and gratification.

Mr. Sheen observed, that he felt that the people of England had been hitherto somewhat lukewarm and callous as to the relations of this country with foreign nations; but recent events coupled with the circumstance that encouragement was held out to them by the government that they should do so, would have the effect for the future of making them equally alive to foreign as to domestic subjects.

Lord Palmerston remarked that one of the difficulties which was felt in the conduct of foreign affairs arose from the fact of the great bulk of the people caring generally little about them. The government had no desire to be urged on to war, although they were desirous of upholding the nationality of foreign countries.—At the time when Hungarian affairs were agitating the world—he did not allude to recent demonstrations here, but those which led to the step on the part of the government were the great demonstrations held in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Birmingham, and all the great towns, as well as the metropolis—when forty or fifty addresses had reached him from all the great towns, he (the noble viscount) for warded them to Sir Stratford Canning, to show him that it was not merely the wish of the government, but the wish of the people that he should interfere, and prevent, if possible, that which other powers were demanding, and it was only that circumstance which put the government in a position to grant aid if it were needed. But the Sultan, to do him justice, was most willing to lend his aid and co-operate with this country in carrying out the wishes of the British government. (Hear, hear.) At the same time, however, a great deal of good generalship and judgment was required, and during the pending struggle a good deal of judicious bottleholding was obliged to be brought into play. (Hear, hear.) His Lordship having again expressed his gratification at these marks of confidence and approbation on the part of the people, the deputation withdrew, highly gratified with the warm reception they had received from the noble viscount.

FRANK'S TRADE WITH A YANKEE.—"The last time I was in St. Louis," says Dan. Marble, "I was sitting in the store of old Frank—, country fashion on top of the counter, legs pendant, when a real nutmeg came booming along, and in he comes with a heap of bundles in his fists. Frank was down on pedlars, and Yankees in particular, but he was always "set" for a joke, and loved equal to an Israelite to drive a sharp bargain.

The Yankee nodded to me, and I nodded towards Frank, intimating—there was his victim. Frank was busy smoking and figuring over his ledger.

"How'd du," observed the pedlar.

"No, no, no,—go on," Frank peevishly responded; but that wasn't the Yankee's religion, he wanted to trade, and was bound to do it.

"Kalkilate, Squire, I couldn't drive a trade or nothin' with yeou folks tu day?"

"I calculate you calculate about right, for you cannot," was the sneering reply.

"Wall, I guess yeou needn't get huffy about it. Naow, here's a dozen jenuine razor strops, ten dollars and a half; yeou may have 'em for ten dollars."

"I tell you I don't want any of your trash, so you had better be going," says Frank.

"Sho, how yeou talk; I'll bet yeou five dollars if yeou make me an offer for them ere strops we'll have a trade yet."

"Done," says Frank, putting a V into my hand.

The Yankee deposited a like sum—when Frank offered him a picayune for the strops.

"They're your'n," said the Yankee, as he quietly fobbed the stakes. "But," he added, with great apparent honesty, "I calculate a joke is a joke, and if yeou don't want them strops, I'll trade back!"

Frank's countenance brightened.

"There it is," said the Yankee, as he received the strops, and passed over the picayune.—"A trade's a trade—and naow you're wide awake in airnest. I guess the next time yeou trade with that ere pic, you'll do better than to buy razor strops."

Away walked the pedlar with his strops and his wager, amid the shouts of a half dozen fellows who dropt in.

AN EXTENSIVE PROPRIETOR.—The San Francisco Times and Transcript states that Senor Pacheco, of Santa Cruz county, is the owner of three eleven-leagues grants of land, or about 200,000 acres. This is three times the quantity allowed to any one man by the Spanish or Mexican law. To avoid this legal provision, the grants were originally given at three different periods, and it was said a different name was used each time. At the present time there are 30,000 head of cattle on this 33 leagues rancho, and the whole property is assessed at $1,000,000. The taxes this year will amount to $30,000, requiring the sale of about 3000 head of cattle to raise the money. Some idea of the value of land, in that part of California, may be found by the assessment of the grants before specified. Suppose the cattle are reckoned at $10 a head, which is probably a moderate estimate, their total value would be $300,000, leaving $709,000 as the value of land, or about three dollars and a half per acre.

Hogs.—The weather is too cold for cutting, and but little has been done in that branch of the business. To-day we could hear of but few hogs in the market, and those in were held at an advance. Some sales were effected late on Saturday, which have not been before reported: Included in the number were 950 head, to arrive, at $4 50—to average 210 lbs, those falling short of the average, $4 25. To-day $4 70@4 75 were the ruling asking rates for heavy, and we learn that a small packer in the southern part of the city determining to secure a lot, paid for about 300 head very fine $4 75. We are not positive of this sale, but have it from good authority. One thing is very certain—hogs could not be had to-day at Saturday's quotations, $4 35@$4 60. $4 55@$4 60 was offered for one or two small droves on the opposite side of the river, but when last heard from they had not been sold. The tendency of the market is upward, and No. 1 may be quoted quite at $4 65@$4 60; extra higher, say $4 60@$4 65. The total number packed to date may be set down in round figures at 25,000 head.

The Snake-prepared 'Yellow Dock' and the 'Red Honduras Sarsaparilla' are the invaluable remedial agents from which Dr. Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is formed, and the laboratory of Dr. Guysott has given us the virtues of these roots in their perfection. His preparation contains all of the restorative properties of the roots, combined and concentrated in their utmost strength and efficacy.

Experiments were made in the manufacture of this medicine until it was found that it could not be farther improved.

Accordingly, we find it reported to almost universally in cases of Hepatic, Scorbutic, and Cutaneous complaints for General Prostration of all the vital powers, and all those tormenting diseases of the Skin so trying to the patience and so injurious to health.

Scrofula, Syphilis, Mercurial Complaints, Cancers, Gangrene, Rheumatism, and a vast variety of other diseases are and dangerous diseases are speedily and perfectly cured by the use of this medicine.

To Married Ladies and Mothers.

The Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has been prepared with particular reference to Female Complaints.

No female, who has the slightest reason to suppose she is approaching that critical period, the turn of life, should neglect, for one moment, to take this compound, as it has proved to be a certain preventive for all the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at this time of life.

By using this extract, this period may be delayed for several years, for this medicine certainly has no equal for all of the delicate diseases to which females are subject.

The Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for females of delicate health, resulting from irregularity of menstrual discharges and other diseases peculiar to their sex. The proprietor has in his possession a great number of certificates of cures performed of the above description, which, from their delicate nature, we omit to publish. However, we can assure the afflicted that a bottle or two of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla will at once regulate those difficulties and renew the natural energies.

Females, read the following.

Dr. Guysott—Dear Sir: I have been for years very much out of health; I had lost my appetite, and was, by spells, very sick at my stomach. I was very much troubled with night sweats, and for days was troubled with drowsiness and general debility. My husband purchased me a bottle of your valuable Syrup, and before I had taken that one bottle my appetite was very much improved, and I am now enjoying good health. I found your medicine as good as it was recommended.

MRS. JANE S. TAYLOR.

Females, read the following.

NEWARK, N. J., January 25.

Mr. Tennent:—We take pleasure in stating that your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla gives great satisfaction in every case.

A very respectable gentleman informed us that his daughter was trouble with difficult menstruation and other diseases peculiar to her sex. She had not had her regular menstruation for a long time; but by the use of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla was radically cured. See also Townsend's and others without receiving the slightest benefit. He had one daughter to die from this same cause.

HIRAM KELLOGG, Oswego co., May, 1848.

S. F. Bennett—Dear Sir: I purchased about time ago a bottle of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla for my wife, which she has used for her complaint, Erysipelas and Weakness, Falling of the Womb, etc., and it has already helped her very much. Of the Erysipelas it has effected nearly a cure. I have just purchased a second bottle, and judging from the effect of the former, feel confident that I will effect a perfect cure.

Yours, very respectfully, N. COBURN.

Cure of an aggravated case of Erysipelas.

The cures performed by Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla are lasting. The patient's general health continues to improve after disease is removed. Cures are not chronicled until time has fully tested that there can be no relapse or return of the disease:

NORWAY, Herkimer co., February, 1850.

S. F. Bennett & Co.—Gents: It is with great pleasure that I write you about the very happy effect of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla upon my son, who has long been suffering under that dreadful, loathsome disease, Erysipelas, with which he was attacked in 1848, and was for several months attended by some of our best physicians, who tried their skill perseveringly for five months, without any beneficial effects whatever. He became reduced to a perfect skeleton. He had utterly from me his pardon to his knee, which were continually discharging offensive matter. Medical and surgical skill was baffled. Physicians said that his case was hopeless—there could be nothing done to arrest those terrible gangreening ulcers. My neighbors and myself thought his dissolution near at hand. One of my neighbors, who had cured a child of scrofula with your invaluable medicine, wished me to make a trial of it, and more from the restless desire to do something while life lasted than from any hope of getting relief, I procured three bottles of your "Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," and commenced using it, and to my astonishment he commenced to improve before he had used the third bottle, and before he had used half a dozen bottles he could walk out. He used in all twelve bottles during the year '49, and by October last he was perfectly restored; every vestige of the disease except the scars was removed, and he remains in perfect health up to the present time. His recovery, under the blessings of God, is entirely owing to the use of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, and I assure you that I feel myself under great obligations to you, and it is with great joy that I inform you of what your Sarsaparilla has done for my son.

Respectfully, JAMES RUSSEL.

THE DEMOCRAT.

MONDAY. : : : DECEMBER 22, 1851.

France.

The news from France is startling, and would confound the rest of mankind if it come from any other country in christendom. Napoleon's capacity has been sneered at without reason, as we have before had occasion to observe. So far he has outgeneraled the combined wisdom of the National Assembly. That body have met the fate they justly deserve. They robbed millions in France of the right of suffrage. They proscribed the freedom of speech and of the press. They basely betrayed the constituents who trusted them with power; and they are now at the mercy of one as little to be trusted as themselves.

Napoleon has no doubt his own selfish designs, and the proposal to elect a President for ten years is ominous. He is now riding a popular hobby and may therefore win, but his condition is precarious. We have not information enough yet to form any estimate of the consequences; whether they will be well or ill for France.

The new Steamer Reindeer.—The following are the dimensions of Capt. Sam Montgomery's new steamer Reindeer, just completed at New Albany. Length, 260 feet; beam, 33 feet; hold, 6½ feet. Cabin, 260 feet long; ladies' cabin, 65 feet long; admirably furnished, with rooms large and convenient; two bridal rooms, and other arrangements that will not fail to make passengers comfortable. The boilers, five in number, are 42 inches in diameter; two cylinders 25 inches in diameter, and 9 feet stroke. The hull was built by Niblo & Townsend, machinery by Lent, South & Shipman, cabin by John Thompson, painting by G. B. Spurrier, upholstery by Wells & Co., copper works by J. Harris. The whole work and furnishing indicates the superior taste, ability, and judgment of those connected with the building and fitting out of the Reindeer.

☞Mr. John Fate is prepared with the choicest specimens of snow beef and mutton for Christmas meats. He will, in season, show them at his old established stand—the first stall from 4th street in the Upper Middle market.

☞A negro from Jackson county, Ind., fell into a scalding tub at White & Co.'s porkhouse, in Jeffersonville, on Saturday, and was very severely burnt.

Suicide.—Samuel V. Leedom, of Elizabethtown, Ky., committed suicide on the 18th inst., by shooting himself with a pistol.

☞The number of hogs slaughtered around the falls, up to Saturday evening, amounts to about 160,000 head.

☞Nearly all the ice houses in the city have been filled with ice during the present cold spell.

☞Last year 20,000 tierces of beef were packed in Cleveland, Ohio. This year it is thought the number will not exceed 8,000 tierces.

☞Professor Kinkel, the German patriot, arrived at St Louis on Tuesday.

☞On the 25th inst. there is to be an election of a new board of directors for the Pacific railroad.

Length of United States Railroads.—There are, in the United States, twenty two railways, whose aggregate length is five thousand two hundred and fifty-four miles, averaging two hundred and thirty-eight miles; the shortest is one hundred and eleven miles, and the longest one (the Erie) is 462 miles. What nation can compare with this for railroads?

☞Omnibuses for the accommodation of travelers are now running between Madison and Cincinnati.

☞Three hundred and forty hogsheads of tobacco have been sold at the Pickett warehouse since the day it opened.

Chapman's Varieties.—The Histrionic Temple was crowded on Saturday night, and the performances throughout were warmly applauded. To-night Mr. Lawler, a deserving young gentleman, and an excellent actor, takes a benefit. The bill selected is the best of the season, and we are confident that Mike will have a real bumper. Miss Carline, the fascinating danseuse, appears to-night in several of her favorite dances, and Ned Chapman in a comic song. We advise everybody, who are desirous of spending a leisure hour in the most agreeable manner, to visit this popular place of amusement to-night.

☞Judge Bullock has not yet recovered from his illness; consequently there was nothing done at the criminal court on Saturday.

☞Remember that Mike Lawler takes a benefit at Chapman's Varieties to-night. Who will be absent?

☞See the proceedings of the meeting of German Democrats in another column. We hope the additional delegates to Frankfort, nominated at this meeting, will make it a point to attend the State convention on the eighth of January.

☞The weather turned quite cold again on Saturday night. Yesterday morning snow fell to the depth of three inches, and the merry tinkling of the sleigh bells was heard in the streets.

Novel Scene—Yesterday morning, at an early hour, the river, from the foot of Fifth street to the head of the canal, was literally lined with men and boys, who were enjoying the delightful recreation of skating.

Death from Intemperance and Suffocation—A woman named Donahoe died on Green street near Fourth yesterday, from intemperance. Early in the morning she was intoxicated and went into her house to warm. Setting down near the fire it is supposed that she was suffocated with the smoke. Drs. Griffith, Vaughan and Russell, examined the body and reported to the jury the above facts. Coroner C. C. Green held an inquest over the body and returned a verdict accordingly.

☞A rumor was quite current in the city yesterday morning that the steamer Telegraph, No. 2, had been sunk by the ice at eighteen mile island. The report was, however, contradicted in the afternoon by an express messenger who was sent up. The noble craft will be at our wharf as soon as navigation is opened.

German Democratic Meeting.

At a called meeting of the German Democrats, held at the house of Henry Rose, G. C. Stein was called to the chair, and Philip Doern was appointed Secretary.

The President declared the purpose of the meeting, after which Philip Tomppert, Esq., read the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we not only sympathise with the resolutions which were adopted by our American fellow Democrats, at a recent meeting at the court house, but will sustain them by all means to the utmost.

Resolved, That the following gentlemen be added as delegates to the convention, which is to be held at Frankfort on the 8th of January, 1852: Col. Kern, Henry Bachmer, Chas. Heyback, Wm. Armbruster, P. Wyles, P. Ruhl, Fred Meyer, A. Snyder, P. Hartman, E. Schnabel, M. Trech. J. Leil, P. Husser, Jno. Stall, L. Stall, S. Reim, W. Sautgen, L. Carl, John Reeder, J. Freyvogel, S. Schlueschinger, F. Lieber, Geo. Eller, M. Rose, H. Wattring, N. Seng, M. Eckelhoff, G. Ehinger, E. Seabolt, J. Appel, Capt. Knapp, J. Lauer, P. Seibert, P. Tamppert, J. B. Jegie, G. C. Stein, Jos. Wolf, P. Metz, H. Driesbach, H. Bentel, P. Vischer, J. Vischer, J. Gennan, A. Nicias, A. Schardtin, Jos. Wolf, J. N. Basler, P. Doern, H. Sachtleben, A. Bindewald, J. Alberts, Geo. Schumacher, H. Binkle, P. Reiling, Henry Siebert, H. Gieske, G. Kraft, J. Ehrman, F. Vissman, J. Vander Heide, Geo. Kuh, B. Boischer, J. Siebel and Dr. Kempf.

Resolved, That a general Democratic meeting shall be held next Saturday, Dec. 27th, at the court house, to adopt the further necessary arrangements.

After which the meeting adjourned.

G. C. STEIN, President.

Philip Doern, Secretary.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Graves County.—A democratic meeting was held at Mayfield, Graves county, on the 15th day of December, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Convention to be held at Frankfort on the 8th of January next; on motion, Hon. S. F. Morse was called to the Chair, and A. B. Boon appointed Secretary. After which the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The presidential election of 1852 is near at hand, when it will be necessary for the democracy of the land to rally around and triumphantly sustain those tried principles which we believe to be the fundamental doctrines of liberty and prosperity. Therefore

Resolved, That we are in favor of a democratic national convention, to be held at the most central point, some time during the coming spring, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States.

Resolved, That nothing has transpired to weaken our confidence in the sentiments promulgated by the democratic convention, which assembled in Baltimore in 1848; but, on the contrary, subsequent events and experience of the country tend only more firmly to confirm us in our adherence to those principles and measures.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a democratic State convention, to be held at Frankfort on the 8th day of January next, for the purpose of nominating an electoral ticket, and appointing delegates to the national convention, and issuing other calls for a thorough organization of the democratic party.

Resolved, That the delegates to the convention to be held at Frankfort on January, be instructed that in the event said convention expresses a preference for candidates for the office of President and Vice President, to present our preference for Gen. Wm. O. Butler for President.

Resolved, That the following gentlemen be appointed delegates to said convention: Maj. W. M. Cavell, Wm. Beadles, J. S. Garrett, S. G. Hubbard, Hon. S. F. Morse, J. W. Womble, W. P. Egen, J. W. Cook, John Worthom, George H. Pirtle, John R. Snead, Jackson Baker, E. Stokes, John Jones, John Russard, A. R. Boon, and A. H. Washington.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be forwarded to the Louisville Democrat and Southern Kentucky Argus for publication.

The meeting then adjourned.

S. F. Morse, Chairman.

A. R. Boon, Secretary.

Erratum.

Cincinnati has invited Kossuth, to that city; cant the city of Louisville do likewise? All speak at once; or shall we fall in love with absolutism, or fear lest we give offence to crowned heads? In no city, we believe, will he be hailed with a more hearty good will by the mass of all parties: and we now make the suggestion. We hope our city Council will act upon it. If they dont, the people will.

Tobacco.—It will be seen, by reference to our commercial column, that six hogsheads of manufacturing leaf tobacco were sold at the Farmers' warehouse, on Saturday, at $6 per hundred, which is the best price, we believe, obtained this season.

☞An old lady was burnt to death in New Albany on Saturday.

☞We perceive that our old friend Captain Wm. S. D. Megowan has recently become connected with the Pickett Tobacco Warehouse in this city. Mr. Megowan is an active business man, and will doubtless prove a valuable acquisition to that establishment.

Our telegraphic despatches this morning will be found unusually interesting.

Select Academy. Mr. J. M. McLain, whose academy is on Broadway near the Blind Asylum, will receive a few more boys into his classes. For references, terms, &c, see advertising columns.

☞The butchers have christened the market house between Third and Fourth streets, the "St. Charles Market." We are sure our friend John J. Felker, of the St. Charles Hotel, won't object to the name.

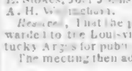
Christmas Meats.—We call the attention of the citizens to the advertisement of Mr. A. J. Powers. He has some rare and choice specimens of meat for the holidays. Don't forget his stall, No. 26 in the upper middle market.

DIED,

At 4 o'clock last evening Dec. 21st Horace H. Jones, of the firm of Jones and Halbert, in the 50th year of his age.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday the 23d inst., at half past 2 o'clock, from his residence on Main street between Brook and Floyd. The friends and acquaintances of the family, are respectfully invited to attend.

To the Citizens of Louisville.—Attention.



I will expose to sale at the St. Charles Market, (between 3d and 4th streets) on Saturday next, No 26, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next, the finest specimen of show Beef and Mutton and Bear meat, ever before exhibited in this city. The attention of all is respectfully solicited. Remember No. 26, St. Charles Market.

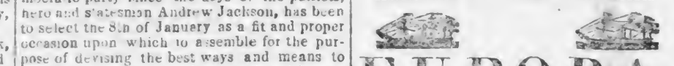
ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP



EUROPA.

EXCITEMENT IN FRANCE!

ARREST OF 200 MEMBERS OF THE ASSEMBLY—SEVERAL SHOT.

Formation of a New Ministry.

PARIS IN A STATE OF SEIGE!

Halifax, Dec. 20.

The Europa put in here this morning, having experienced a succession of heavy gales. She left on the 6th, and lost one man overboard during the passage.

The Canada arrived out on the 2nd inst., after a rough voyage, and the Baltic on the 1th.

FRANCE!

Affairs in France had reached the crisis long dreaded. The coup d'etat was made on the 1st inst. The last lingering remnant of constitutional government is destroyed. The preparations were effected with consummate skill and secrecy. Everything was consummated before the Assembly had the least idea of Napolean's intentions, and an entire new Ministry was formed by daylight on Tuesday morning. The President's proclamation was found posted throughout the city, in which he ordered a dispersion of the Assembly, and a restoration of universal suffrage. He proposed that during the election the executive powers should remain in the hands of the President, and that the election should take place during the present month, and that he would bow to the will of the people. He says he has been forced into the present attitude.

It is certain that Theirs, Changarnier and others of the opposition had decided to demand his arrest and impeachment on the 2d inst., and were almost in the act of moving in the matter, when they and their friends were arrested and conveyed to Vincennes.—Whenever the members of the Assembly have attempted to meet officially they have been ordered to disperse, and arrested if they refused. Two hundred members have been arrested, but many were subsequently released. All the leaders of the opposition are in prison. It is said 300 of the members have given in their adherence to the President. Telegraph dispatches from the departments state that the President's demonstrations have been hailed almost with enthusiasm; subsequently these reports were contradicted. Several barricades were erected in different parts of Paris, but were speedily broken up by the troops. At one of these two members of the Assembly who held prominent places, were killed in the conflict. On Monday, a section of the Assembly contrived to meet, and decided upon the deposition of the President and his impeachment for high treason. The meeting was dispersed by the troops, and the decree ridiculed on all sides. Troops were placed in the houses of all the ex members of the Assembly who were exempt from arrest, and among others M. Dupin.

The full rigor of martail law prevailed against all persons concerned in the barricades; and a large number were shot. Up to Thursday night the success of the President seemed certain.

New York, Dec. 20.

The news by the Europa is of exciting importance. Napoleon seized upon the reins of the Government, on the 20th inst. and dissolved the Assembly. Paris was declared in a state of siege, and the leading opponents of Napoleon were arrested.

The President has appeared to the people by proclamation to restore universal suffrage and hold an immediate election of President, who shall hold his office forten years, to be supported by a Council of State and two Houses of the Legislature.

A new ministry has been formed, and all was quiet on the 5th inst.

London.—Advices do not very materially the prospect in France, but new elements are constantly a rising.

(Here the telegraph wires from Halifax to Portland broke, and the remainder of this exciting and important news was cut off.—Reporter.)

Halifax, Dec. 20.

The Europa has put in at this port. She brings Liverpool dates to the 6th inst.

Liverpool Cotton Market.

Cotton.—The startling news received from Paris at Liverpool on the 2nd instant, checked the upward tendency of Cotton.

Subsequently holders evinced increased anxiety to realize, which gave buyers an advantage of about 1:3d. The sales of the week were 39,000 bales, of which speculators took 8,700, and exporters 1,000 bales.

Wheat had advanced.

THIRTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

[FIRST SESSION.]

Senate.—Mr. Seward presented the petition of the industrial Congress of New York, praying that the Government adopt such policy with regard to foreign nations as will secure to the people struggling for liberty, justice from other nations.

A joint resolution from the House, relative to binding certain documents was taken up, debated and postponed until Monday week.

Mr. Walker said much misapprehension existed in the public mind as to the objects of his resolution, upon the foreign policy of the United States. He therefore moved they be printed, which was agreed to.

The joint resolution concerning the Irish Patriots; and also in reference to Abdel Kader, were taken up, and postponed.

The joint resolution making land warrants assignable was taken up; several amendments were proposed, and the whole subject was referred to the committee on public lands.

Mr. Foote's compromise resolutions was then taken up.

Foote's compromise resolutions were discussed by Messrs. Foote and Rhett. Their remarks were mainly of an explanatory character, till near the hour of adjournment.

Mr. Houston having the floor, gave way for the purpose of holding an executive session, after which they adjourned.

Deacon Whitfield's Folks.

BY FATTY LEE.

The Deacon stopped short, sat down on the door-sill, and deliberately took off his shoes, from which he emptied a considerable quantity of hay-seed; he then replaced them, tied them tight, and, without looking at or answering Sally, who all the while stood drawing the hem of her apron through her fingers, he took his way to the field.

Perhaps he did not hear me, thought she. I will ask again. And the resolve required great courage; for she secretly felt that he did not hear her, and that a second repulse might not be so silent.

When he returned in the evening, however, her heart misgave her, and all the evening she sat and cut apples in silence; but when the last basket-full was finished, she ventured to hint softly of what was topmost in her thoughts, by saying,

"We ought to work later to-night than usual."

"I don't see why," said the Deacon, after a long pause.

Sally felt that it was useless to say why, and so said—

"Oh! just because."—

"Sally Whitfield!" said the mother, thereby indicating a reproof for her freedom of speech.

The poor child felt reproved, and mortified, and baffled, and so went to bed, and cried herself to sleep.

But sleep is a wonderful restorative, especially to the young, and the following morning she felt fully determined to renew her application. The great day was come. At the latest possible moment she said—

"Father, are you not going to give me the money I asked you for?"

"What do you want of it, child?" he asked.

A little encouraged, she replied that she wanted to get a new neck-ribbon, to wear to Deacon White's.

"It's a pretty story," said the father. "If you are to be dressed up, and sent to dinner parties at five o'clock, and mother and me at home at work. You don't want a new ribbon any more than you want a new head. You had better wish you were a better girl than to be wishing for new ribbons."

The spirit of the girl was roused, and she said,

"You promised me a present long ago, for helping you winnow up the wheat."

"And haven't you had presents every day? Who gives you your dinners and suppers, and gets you new shoes and dresses?"

Sally felt these were not the presents she was promised for the hard day's labor she had spoken of, but she said nothing further.

All day she went about her work with a heavy heart; but at dinner her father said, "Well, Sally, I have brought you that present to-day!" and a great shadow fell from her heart, and a vision of the party rose bright and distinct before her, but faded bitterly, as he went on to say, "It is no foolish gewgaw, but a nice sandstone, with which you may scour the churn and pails this afternoon, as bright as you please."

Feeling her bosom tremble with a storm of passion, the young girl left the table, and seating herself under a cherry-tree that grew by the kitchen door, she began picking the clover blossoms which clustered thick about her feet, until she had fifty, for she had counted them over and over again, for the want of anything else to do. While she was thus employed, her father, whose scythe hung in the bough over her head, came towards her, and seeing her clouded brow and her idleness, rebuked her severely, and concluded by saying—

"Now, go out of my sight, and don't let me see your face till you can behave better."

A little from the main road, and out of view of the house, was a beautiful grove of elms, and thither, more from habit than motive, for she often went there, she bent her steps.

Unconsciously she had taken with her the clover-buds; and seating herself beneath a low beech overrun with wild grape-vines, she began braiding her blossoms to a wreath. She was not beautiful, farther than deep dark eyes, a wealth of nut-brown curls, youth, and health, might make any one beautiful. The wood was dreary and still—the heavy shadows stretched longer and longer over the thick, green grass—as the day went down, the spider wove his pale, slender net-work from bough to bough, entangling the golden sunlight—the birds quickened and deepened their songs, at first few and drowsy, till the woods shook with melody—the winds blew the curls about her cheeks, and played with the wreath in her lap, as they were.—The time and place had had a softening and soothing effect, and, after locking her hands together, and humming over all the hymns she knew, leaning her head against the trunk of the tree, beneath which she sat, she had fallen asleep.

Neither the winds nor the birds disturbed her; but when at length a human voice, though very low and gentle, addressed her, the dream was broken, and the blushes beneath her dark locks burnt crimson, when, looking up, she saw before her the young village clergyman.

Gracefully and something gaily for his sacred profession, he apologized for the intrusion, saying he was not aware that the fair forest was presided over by a still fairer divinity; and that being on the way to meet for the first time the little flock over which he had been called to preside, he had been tempted by the exceeding beauty of the grove to turn aside, and hold communion with his own heart.

DR. A. J. VANDERSLICE.

Late Professor of the Ecole Chuique de Medicine e Pharmocie Paris, having been practising medicine 29 years past,

BEGS leave to announce to his friends and the public generally, that he still continues to devote his time and attention to the alleviation of human suffering, by curing the following diseases: Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Fits, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Piles, Fistulas, Gout, Rheumatism, Scrofula, White Swellings, Diseases of the Skin, Nervous Affections, Fever and Ague, Bilious Complaints, &c., &c.
The success which Dr. V. has met with by his peculiar mode of treating all kinds of diseases, has been astonishing—curing the most desperate cases after repeated failures of the most eminent practitioners in the country. As a proof of the Doctor's merits untried, he will undertake the cure of all patients without charge, except the cost of the medicine, requiring no fee until after the restoration of their health, and the full satisfaction to the patient's mind of the benefit conferred.—This is the principle upon which Dr. Vanderslice is governed in all cases with his practice.
Persons afflicted with Bullions, &c., &c., can have them effectually removed and permanently cured without pain. Thousands of persons have been cured by Dr. V., and can bear testimony to his wonderful success.
Females suffering with irregularities, nervousness, debility, &c., can be permanently cured by the treatment of Dr. Vanderslice. Ladies, let no scruple nor false delicacy hinder you from applying in proper person, when you can be so readily restored to health.
Diseases of a peculiar character are guaranteed to be removed in a few days, radically, without offensive or delecterious medicine. Dr. V. being eminently successful in this branch of practice, patients would save much time and expense, to say nothing of anxiety of mind, by giving him an early call. He warrants to all, no matter how severe and long standing it may have been, a thorough cure, or no pay. Invalids! your true interest is to apply to Dr. V. at once, who has the proper medicines to meet all cases.
Dr Vanderslice begs leave to say further, that he has with him the medicines prepared in a scientific and skilful manner under his own eye, to cure each and all diseases in which his attention has been so long directed, with full directions how to use them: therefore invalids from any section of the country, by address ing a letter, post paid, to the doctor, stating symptoms, &c., and enclosing a fee, can have advice and medicine sent them.
☞ Office hours from 7 to 12 o'clock, A. M., and from 2 to 6 P. M.

TRUSSES.

MARSH'S LATE IMPROVED SELF-ADJUSTING TRUSS. This embodiment of ingenuity, skill, and science are beautifully blended in this useful instrument, adapting itself to the different movements and positions of the body. Its perfect action and certain pressure at all times and under all circumstances, gives to the wearer that confidence in his safety so necessary to his happiness. The instrument is neat and compact, dispensing wholly with straps and buckles, and, leaving the wearer a free use of his limbs, he becomes unconscious of its presence and pleased with his relief.
Also, Marsh & Co.'s superior SHOULDER BRACE.—The object of this Brace is to remedy habitual stooping, round and crooked shoulders, weak back and chest, and preserve an erect and graceful position, indispensable to health and beauty. It is adapted to benefit men, women, and children, of all ages, occupations, and conditions. The great utility of this Brace will, on trial, become apparent to all, and its simplicity and adaptations to the object designed, are its best recommendations. It is light yet strong, and perfectly elastic, combining all the excellencies of the common Shoulder Brace in use, with none of its objections. This Brace is so constructed as to answer the purpose of Shoulder Brace and Suspenders.
ABDOMINAL SUPPORTERS, which claim especial attention, as they are worn with much comperative comfort to that of others, being so constructed as to give a uniform support to the back and abdomen, doing away with the steel spring, so annoying to the wearer. The above articles will be found of great benefit to persons afflicted with pain in the back and sides, inability to tie upon their feet for any length of time, which arises from a displacement of parts that are readily restored by timely application of a properly constructed instrument.
